Life Insurance

Life Insurance or Life Cover pays a lump sum to your family or other beneficiaries if you pass away. It is the simplest form of protection available, and it is usually taken out to provide for your family or to pay off your mortgage in the event of death.

The most common reasons for insurance claims related to loss of life in Ireland are heart attack, respiratory illness, stroke and cancer. Even today, a few years after the pandemic, Covid related illnesses still takes lives, thankfully there were few deaths reporting Covid as a primary and only cause of death.

Serious Illness and Cancer Cover

Serious Illness Cover is a type of insurance policy that pays out a cash lump sum if you get one of the many serious illnesses covered by the plan. Cancer Cover is a specific type of Serious Illness insurance, which covers particular cancer diagnoses only.

A cash lump sum paid to you could help remove some of the financial and emotional stress associated with a serious illness – to enable you to take the time off work, to help pay for specialist treatment and/or even to help cover day-to-day household bills such as childcare.

At Zurich, we focus on the strength of our Serious Illness definitions, and our view is that this is the most important element of any Serious Illness contract. We've always focused on the 'Big Three' – Cancer, Heart and Stroke.

Illnesses in these three categories alone accounted for 80% of all our Serious Illness claims in 2024. At Zurich, Cancer accounts for 68% of all Serious Illness claims. However, for women, Cancer is the cause of 80% of Serious Illness claims of which over half related to Breast Cancer.

Income Protection

If you are unfortunate enough to fall ill or become injured and are unable to work during the term of your plan, you may be eligible to receive a monthly income until you are well enough to work again. Income Protection from Zurich also includes valuable additional benefits such as back-to-work services, a hospital cash benefit and essential activities benefits.

The core of our Income Protection proposition is that it gives you financial resilience, so that you can still pay off your mortgage, cover your household bills and take care of your family when you are unable to earn an income due to injury or illness.

Have you ever considered how important protecting your monthly income is?

It's what allows you to pay for everything: food, housing, bills, and your family's needs. For most people, their income is the foundation that their daily life is built on.

When you retire, you'll rely on your pension to replace this income, but to ensure adequate funding at retirement you depend on having an income to save for it.

Losing your income due to illness or injury could put your financial goals at risk. That's why, at Zurich, we believe protecting your income should be at the core of every financial plan.

Early intervention and back-to-work services

When you have Income Protection with Zurich and you get ill or injured, let us know as soon as you can. You may immediately be able to benefit from our early intervention service without having to wait until the end of the deferred period.

This service is provided through our partner Health Claims Bureau (HCB), experts in early intervention and employee health management with a 30-year track record in getting people back on their feet. Did you know that over 90% of all cases referred within 4 weeks of date first absent return to work with HCB case manager support¹?

When you notify us of a potential claim, we quickly assess whether our back-to-work services can support your wellbeing. These services are particularly effective when the underlying cause is due to mental health and musculo-skeletal conditions, which together make more than one-third of our claims².

If you are considered a candidate for these services, Zurich Life will refer to HCB to appoint a personal case manager. After an initial assessment, either in person or remotely, they will build a personalised plan, which may include physiotherapy and psychological support.

And even when you're back at work, we can keep supporting you. With our proportionate benefit we can top up some of your salary if you are unable to return full time and you're not earning as much as before.

Early intervention can significantly help an income protection claimant.

Our experience shows that the longer an individual stays away from work, the harder it is to return. While most people wish to return to work, prolonged absence can make this increasingly challenging.

Our Early Intervention program is designed to support clients at the earliest stages of sick leave or potential absence. We recommend starting the program as soon as possible, without waiting for the deferred period to pass.

We've seen great success with candidates referred to our early intervention partner, HCB. Many candidates feel supported and cared for and successfully return to work with their help.

The importance of disclosure

Although this doesn't happen very often, there are cases where we're unable to pay a claim. There are three main reasons for claims not being paid.

Non-disclosure at the time of application

This is when incorrect or incomplete information relating to factors such as health, lifestyle or occupation was provided when applying for the cover. Many cases of non-disclosure involve heavy alcohol abuse or drug use.

The claim does not meet the definitions

This is when the claim is filed for a condition that isn't specified in the Policy Document or did not meet the definition of the condition.

The claim does not meet the conditions

This is when the claim does not meet the conditions that were laid out in the Policy Document. For example, when a loss of life claim arises as a result of suicide, the policy has to have been in force for one year as suicide is not covered during the first year of the policy.

For more information, read our Client Guide.
If you have any questions during your application,
please contact your Financial Adviser.

In 2024, we have paid over €88 million in life and serious illness claims, with nearly 98.6% of all life claims being paid out.

Unfortunately, each year, across the market, a small percentage of claims are declined – these declinations are often due to non-disclosure of relevant facts during the application stage. The most common reason for this is non-disclosure, particularly related to undisclosed medical history, which was asked about in the application questions.

When a client fails to disclose relevant information, they risk their claim not being paid out or having the insured sum reduced. This is something we all want to avoid. Fortunately, most clients answer all questions honestly and truthfully when purchasing life, serious illness, or income protection insurance. You can find more information about how to avoid non-disclosure in our client guide.
